FULL PAPER SUBMISSION INSTRUCTIONS

Authors must follow these requirements when preparing full papers for consideration in the conference proceedings. Compliance with the publisher's template and submission requirements is essential.

MANDATORY PAGE LIMIT: MAXIMUM SIX (6) PAGES

The limit includes the entire manuscript, including references/bibliography, tables and figures. Papers exceeding six pages may be rejected for non-compliance.

1. Use the Mandatory Publisher Template

Prepare the manuscript using the publisher-provided Word or LaTeX template. Review the sample paper and preserve the template's settings and layout. Do not modify the prescribed formatting. The template and sample paper are supplied separately.

2. Formatting and Layout

Follow the publisher's specifications for page size, margins, fonts, line spacing, headings, title, author names, affiliations and reference formatting. The publisher's sample paper is the visual reference for the required layout.

3. Figures and Images

Include every figure cited in the text and ensure that images are high-resolution and clear at publication size. Do not use screenshots, blurred images or low-resolution graphics. Check that figure numbers and captions are present and correct.

4. Tables

Include all tables as editable tables; do not paste tables as images or screenshots. Number and title each table, refer to it in the text, and verify that no table is missing.

5. Citations and References

Check that all in-text citations have matching entries in the reference list and that no citations or references are missing. Follow the referencing style shown in the publisher's template and sample paper; do not substitute another style unless instructed.

6. Copyright Permissions

Obtain permission in advance for every copyrighted figure, image, table or other artwork used. Include the necessary permission grants with the final manuscript and complete the Permission and AI Verification Form (PVF).

ADDITIONAL REQUIREMENTS AND FINAL CHECK

7. Generative AI Disclosure and Policy

Disclose any use of generative AI tools to create text, tables or images in the Permission and AI Verification Form. Authors remain responsible for the originality, validity and integrity of their submissions. As communicated in the publisher's instructions, AI-generated content will not be accepted. Authors must review and comply with the applicable Taylor & Francis AI policy.

8. Prohibited Sourcing

Sourcing or obtaining papers, book chapters or other scholarly content through Telegram or similar channels is strictly prohibited and will not be tolerated.

9. Final Submission

Proofread the entire manuscript and verify author names, designations, affiliations, figures, tables, citations, references and permissions. Submit the complete set of required files together, in their final form, using the prescribed submission procedure.

10. No Revisions After Production Handover

Once the manuscript has been handed over to production, no revisions or additional material will be accepted. The publisher has indicated that production typically begins one to two weeks after submission. Ensure that the manuscript is final before submitting it.

11. Compliance and Possible Rejection

Non-compliance with the six-page limit, publisher template, formatting requirements, permissions, AI disclosure or other submission instructions may result in rejection during review. Given the publication schedule, repeated exchanges for corrections may not be possible.

AUTHOR'S PRE-SUBMISSION CHECKLIST

- ☐ The paper is six pages or fewer, including all references, tables and figures.
- ☐ The publisher's Word or LaTeX template has been used without altering its layout.
- ☐ All figures are high-resolution; all tables are editable and complete.
- ☐ All in-text citations match the reference list and the publisher's reference style is followed.
- ☐ Copyright permissions and the completed Permission and AI Verification Form are included.
- ☐ AI use, if any, has been disclosed as required; all authors have checked the final files.

Please review the publisher's sample paper, template and PVF carefully before submission.
